Self Awareness

Man in his "normal" state of consciousness is aware of little more than the small finite world around him. Awareness of being a physical being in a physical world and confined to existence of living in a world ruled by non-understandable and sometimes cruel laws of nature of man. In this state of consciousness God is little more than a Being of Power and Strength to be feared. He is a God who does things at a whim, so it seems, for his amusement. He makes one person's life happy and easy and one's hard and miserable just because that is what God wants. This state of awareness is very limited, indeed, and restricts man from being as he truly was meant to be.

As man becomes more aware, both outwardly and inwardly, he begins realizing that there is much more to existence than meets the eyes.

That Earth - the Solar System and the Universe as well as man was created in perfect harmony and all things work according to Universal laws of Rhythms. Man becomes aware that he is not a finite being in a finite world unable to express and be as he desires. Man becomes aware of other realms of life beyond this one and he realizes he has a very important part to fulfill in the Plan of Creation.

working in a group environment and with the strength and energy of a group one can move forward in his development quicker than one working alone for the same results. In a group there will be people of different backgrounds and with different viewpoints to present, and by taking all
